JOE AMALFITANO, Manager

John Joseph Amalfitano was named interim manager of the Cubs on July 25, 1980, and accepted the position of full-time manager on October 13, 1980. Joe was also interim manager of the Cubs for seven games (2-5) at the end of the 1979 season when Herman Franks resigned.

Joe's major league career began with the New York Giants in 1954 when he came up as a second baseman. He remained in the Giant organization until 1962 when he went to the Houston Colts in the expansion draft. He returned to the Giants in 1963 and became a Cub in 1964. Joey finished his playing career in 1967 and was appointed the Cubs first base coach. He remained with the Cubs until 1972 when he returned to the west coast to work as a coach with the Giants and Padres. Joe has been with the Cubs since the 1978 season where he has coached at first and third base.

COACHING STAFF

GENE CLINES

Gene was selected to join the Cubs coaching staff during the 1979 season. Gene played for 10 years in the big leagues with the Pirates, Mets, Rangers, and the Cubs. In 1972, with the Pirates, "Geno" had his best year at the plate hitting .334. Clines hit .293 for the Cubs in 1977. Clines' lifetime batting average in the majors was a respectable .277. One of the highlights of Gene's career came May 15-17, 1977, when he collected seven consecutive hits.

JACK HIATT

Jack was named to the Cubs coaching staff in 1981 after three years as manager of the Wichita Aeros of the American Association (Class AAA) from 1978-80. He played 66 of his 483 major league games with the Cubs before concluding his eight-year career in 1972. Besides the Cubs, Hiatt caught for the Angels, the Giants, the Expos and finally the Astros. After a player-coach role with the Wichita Aeros under Mike Roarke, Jack was named manager of the Cubs' Bradenton (FL) Club of the Gulf Coast League (Rookie Class) in 1975. He earned his promotion to the Pompano Beach Club in the Florida State League (Class A) in 1976. After three seasons at Pompano Beach, Jack has been promoted to manage the Midland Clubs in the Texas League (Class AA). One of Jack's greatest thrills in baseball was a pinch home run off Sandy Koufax in his first time at bat in the National League.

HARRY (P-NUTS) LOWREY

P-Nuts returned to the Cub coaching staff in 1981 after a year off in 1980 following his 1977-79 tenure under Manager Herman Franks. Lowrey broke into the majors with the Cubs in 1942 and played with Chicago until 1949, with the highlights of his career coming in the 1945 World Series when he hit .310. He also appeared in the 1946 All-State game. Lowrey began his major league coaching career with the Philadelphia Phillies in 1960, coached the Giants from 1967-68, the Expos in 1969, served on the Cubs coaching staff during 1970-71 and coached for the Angels in 1972. P-Nuts managed three minor league clubs in 1957-58, and 1960.

LES MOSS

Les was hired as minor league pitching instructor for the Cubs in 1979 and was selected as major league pitching coach in 1981. He started his major league career in 1946 with the St. Louis Browns of the American League. Moss, who was replaced by Sparky Anderson as the Detroit field manager, played 19 years in professional baseball as a catcher. He played for the St. Louis Browns, the Baltimore Orioles, and the Chicago White Sox. Moss managed 12 years in the minors with four championships. His teams finished below third place only once. He was named Minor League Manager of the Year by THE SPORTING NEWS following last season's 78-58 won-loss record at Evansville in the American Association (Class AAA). He also scouted for the White Sox in 1961, 1965, and 1969. He coached for the Southsiders in 1967, 1968, and 1970.

OCTAVIO (COOKIE) ROJAS

Cookie joined the Cubs in 1978 as a major league coach after a long and memorable career as a premier second baseman. His final year as a player was in 1977 when Rojas played for the American League Western Division champs, the Kansas City Royals. He spent eight seasons in Kansas City, and before then, belonged to the Philadelphia Club for seven years. Cookie appeared in five all-star games and is a member of the 1500+ hit club. He has played all nine positions in his career and was selected Philadelphia's greatest second baseman in a 1969 poll.

BILLY WILLIAMS

Billy Williams, a former National League batting champion and one of the greatest hitters in modern-day Cub history, was hired by the Chicago Cubs as a full-time coach and batting instructor in 1980. Williams, 41, played for the Cubs from 1959 through 1974 before ending his brilliant career in 1976 at Oakland. In his first full season in the majors in 1961, he batted .278, slammed 25 home runs, and drove in 86 runs to win the Rookie of the Year Award. His .333 batting average and .606 slugging percentage led the National League and earned him Player of the Year Award in 1972. Probably his most cherished mark is the National League record of 1,117 consecutive games played (9/22/63—9/3/70).

THE 1981 CUB PLAYERS

(Note: The names are listed in the large, bold type preceding each biography. Next is his position(s), height, weight, how he bats and throws, and his date and place of birth.)

BLACKWELL, Tim C
5'11" 185 lb. S-R
Born 8/19/52 San Diego, CA

Acquired: Originally signed by Boston. Became a Cub on February 10, 1978, when he was signed as a free-agent.

Personal: Timothy P. Blackwell is married to the former Jane DeBolt and they live in Hoffman Estates, IL, with their daughter Jana. Tim attended Crawford High School in San Diego and was graduated in the spring of 1970. Following high school he attended Grossmont Community College in El Cajon, CA. His hobbies include golf, tennis, basketball and photography.

Prior to Majors: Tim began his baseball career in Little League and continued in high school where he played both baseball and football. He was named the school's Most Valuable Player in both sports. In his senior year, Tim batted .392 in the Eastern League and was selected as the third baseman for the all-league first team and All-San Diego second team. Ray Boone signed Tim to a contract with the Boston Red Sox as an infielder in 1970 right out of high school. Tim spent the 1970 season in Jamestown (Class A) where he appeared in 81 games. With Greenville (Class A), in 1971, he made the switch to catching and went through two more seasons in the minors at Pawtucket (Class AAA) before he made the parent club.

Major Leagues: Tim spent the entire 1975 season with Boston and appeared in 59 games. He was traded to Philadelphia prior to the 1976 campaign but toiled in Rhode Island (Class AAA) and Reading (Class AAA) where he led the Eastern League catchers in assists (64) and was named to the all-star team before finishing the year in Philadelphia. Tim started the 1977 season with the Reading (Class AAA) club before being recalled to Philadelphia and then traded to Montreal. He joined the Cubs in spring training of 1978 and played in Wichita before being called up halfway through the season. Tim proved invaluable as a back-up catcher for the Cubs in 1979 and became the club's full time receiver during the 1980 campaign when Barry Foote injured his back. Tim's strong throwing arm gunned down 41% of the runners that tested it, which is 10% better than the league average. Tim also enjoyed his finest season at the plate in his major league career as he hit for a .272 average and got the first homer in the "biggs" on May 30 against his former teammates, the Phillies. He also ripped San Diego pitching at a .438 average and against St. Louis he batted at a .304 pace. Tim suffered a slight fracture of his left wrist near the end of the season but should be more than ready to repeat his 1980 performance in '81.

L-L

Born 12/14/49

Vallejo, CA

Acquired: Originally signed by Los Angeles. Became a Cub January 11, 1977 when he was traded by the Dodgers, along with Ivan DeJesus, for Rick Monday and Mike Garman.

Personal: William Joseph Buckner is married to the former Jody Schenck and they reside in Chicago during the off-season. Bill is a graduate of Napa (CA) High School and he attended the University of Southern California. Bill enjoys hunting, fishing and hiking and is a rancher during the off-season.

Major Leagues: In 1975, Bill severely sprained his left ankle while attempting to steal a base. The injury hampered his performance throughout the season as indicated by the lowest batting average of his major league career, .243. Bill rebounded sufficiently from his injury to bat .301 in 1976 while playing in 154 games. In 1978, Bill led the Cubs in hitting with a .323 average. He also knocked in 74 runs that year to establish his career high mark. His superb play earned him the Cub's Major League Player Award from the Pitch and Hit Club and Chicago's Player of the Year from the Chicago Chapter of the Baseball Writer's Association of America. He was also chosen as the most popular professional athlete in the Chicagoland area in a poll of fans by Sports Phone. Bill batted at a .284 clip during the 1979 season and led the team in doubles with 34. The 1980 season was Bill's best campaign, offensively. He led the league in batting with a .324 average and he was the toughest batter to strike out in the National League fanning only 18 times in 614 trips to the plate for a ratio of only one strike out for each 34.1 appearance. In fact, Bill has been the toughest batter to strike out in the National League over the last five years having fanned only 112 times in his last 2,849 plate appearances for a strikeout every 25.4 plate appearances. Buckner rapped his way through eight National League opponents in 1980 with a batting average of .300-or-more (.405 vs ATL, .387 vs NY, .347 vs PGH, .342 vs SD, .333 vs PHL, .315 vs MTL, .313 vs STL, and .300 vs LA) and a .291 vs SF.

Acquired: Originally signed by St. Louis. Became a Cub on October 31, 1977, when he was traded by the Cincinnati Reds, along with Woodie Fryman, for Bill Bonham.

Caudill, Cont'd.

Prior to Majors: Bill's fine high school career earned him his league's MVP award as well as all-star team honors. He still holds his school's strikeout record with 117 in 71.1 innings of work. He also fanned 16 batters in two seven-inning high school games. Caudill was the eighth selection of the St. Louis Cardinals in the June 1974 Free Agent Draft. Bob Harrison and Harrison Wickel signed Bill to his first professional contract that same year and he played in the Florida Winter Instructional League for the Cardinals' Astros team where his club won the league championship. Bill led the Texas League in strikeouts during 1976 with a total of 140. He was traded to the Reds organization in March of 1977 for Joel Youngblood and led the Eastern League in winning percentage with .765. After being traded to the Cubs in 1977, Bill ranked third in the American Association in strikeouts with 124.

Major Leagues: Bill was the Cubs hard luck pitcher his rookie season as he won only one game, a nationally televised 13-inning thriller against the Pittsburgh Pirates the day before the 1979 season ended. He made substantial improvement during 1980 as he fanned 100-or-more batters for his second consecutive year but his most significant area of improvement was his reduced ERA. Bill's 2.18 earned run average was the lowest of all Cub pitchers who worked 100-or-more innings. His 72 appearances ranked second on the team behind Dick Tidrow's 84, which was the National League high for 1980 and tied the Cub record set by Ted Abernathy in 1965. Bill was especially tough against Cincinnati (batting average .148), Los Angeles (.189) and Pittsburgh (.197) as those teams combined for a .184 batting average.

Leon batted above .300 three of his five minor league seasons and was named to the Texas League All-Star Team in 1978 and the American Association All-Star Team in 1979. Leon's .310 average and 23 homers also earned him Rookie of the Year honors in the American Association in 1979.

Major Leagues: Leon made his major league debut in May, 1980, and singled off Met pitcher Mark Bombardier in his first big league game. Durham hit his first major league home run into the right field bleachers at Wrigley Field on June 29, 1980. Leon appeared in 95 games last season and batted .271 with 15 doubles, four triples, and eight homers to finish seventh in the National League Rookie of the Year competition.

DAHLEN'S AMAZING STREAK

Bill Dahlen recorded a .274 batting average after 21 years in the National League as a shortstop, but in 1894 he hit .362 thanks to an amazing 42-game hitting streak (June 30 thru Aug. 6). After he was held hitless Aug. 7, the Cub infielder then put together a 28-game span (Aug. 8 thru Sept. 9) for a total of 70 games in which he hit safely out of 71 consecutively played games. No National League player has equalled Dahlen's 70-out-of-71.

FOOTE, Barry C
6'3" 220 lb. R-R
Born 2/16/52 Smithfield, NC

Acquired: Originally signed by Montreal. Became a Cub on February 10, 1979 when traded from Philadelphia with Jerry Martin, Ted Sizemore, Henry Mack, and Derek Botelho for Manny Trillo, Dave Rader, and Greg Gross.

Personal: Barry Clinton Foote is married to the former Susan Pearce and they live in Raleigh, NC, with their son Derek. Barry's father Amby was a pitcher and third baseman with the Dodgers and Pirates and helped Barry greatly in his youth. Foote's hobbies include fishing, collecting art, antiques and tinkering with old cars.

Prior to Majors: Barry played Little League, American Legion and Babe Ruth baseball plus four seasons of minor league ball. He was the Expos number one pick in the June 1970 free agent draft (third selection overall) and second high school player picked. Barry was also a two-time all-star catcher in the minor leagues, 1970 and 1973.

Major Leagues: Barry was Montreal's starting catcher in his rookie season of 1974 hitting .262 in 125 games with 11 home runs and 60 RBI's. His performance earned him Rookie of the Year honors. Barry was traded to Philadelphia from Montreal along with Dan Warthen on June 15, 1977, for Wayne Twitchell and current teammate Tim Lincecum. Foote saw limited action with the Phillies and was traded to the Cubs prior to the 1979 season. Barry did an excellent job of receiving that season and batted .254 with 16 home runs. His strong arm made any would-be base thief think twice before he tested it. The 1980 season was a trying one for Foote. He suffered back spasms early in the year and spent a good deal of time on the disabled list. On April 22 he knocked in eight runs against the Cardinals including a game winning grand slam homer with two out in the bottom of the ninth after hitting a home run in the eighth to tie the game. Barry batted .556 against St. Louis and .360 against Cincinnati. His hottest month at the plate was April during which he batted .333 (14-for-42), hit three home runs and drove in 13.

HERNANDEZ, Willie LHP
Born 11/14/55 Aguada, PR

Acquired: Originally signed in 1974 by Philadelphia. Became a Cub when he was drafted from the Oklahoma City Club in the Major League Draft on December 2, 1976.

Personal: Guillermo "Willie" Hernandez (Villaneuva) is married and they live in Aguada with their son. Willie attended Aguadilla High School and was graduated in 1973.

Prior to Majors: He played prep baseball and was signed by the Phillies as a free agent in 1974. That season with Spartanburg he led the Western Carolinas League (Class A) in games started (26), complete games (13), innings pitched (190), and strikeouts (179). His 2.75 earned run average ranked ninth. These accomplishments earned him a berth on the WCL All-Star Team. While playing for the Phillies 1974 Florida Winter Instructional League Team, Hernandez recorded a 2.65 ERA. He had a composite won-loss record of 14-6 and a 3.11 in 1975 while pitching for Toledo and Reading of the International League (Class AAA) and Eastern League (Class AA), respectively.

Major Leagues: Willie had a strong rookie season, compiling an 8-7 record with a 3.03 ERA. He was second on the team in game appearances with 67 and recorded 78 strikeouts in 110 innings. This impressive young lefty, then a 21-year-old, appeared as a reliever and combined with Rick Reuschel for a shutout vs. New York on June 24. He picked up his first major league win on May 29 and three days later, faced six men in relief and fanned five. His 1977 performance earned him the Rookie of the Year Award from the Chicago chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America. In 1978, Willie had the highest won-loss percentage (8-2 record for an .800 percentage) of those Cub pitchers with 10 or more decisions. Two of Willie's four wins in 1979 came against St. Louis and his other victims were San Diego and Cincinnati. Hernandez made eight appearances from June 12 to July 6 and allowed only one earned run during that time. The 1980 season was a hard luck one for Willie as he won his first decision but none thereafter. He pitched 7.1 innings, the longest stint of his career, against Montreal in a losing effort on May 26. Willie's season ended on September 25 when he broke his left wrist while shagging fly balls prior to the day's game.

KINGMAN, Dave

Born 12/21/48

Pendleton, OR

Acquired: Originally signed with San Francisco following the June 1970 Free Agent Draft, Secondary Phase. Became a Cub on November 30, 1977, when he was signed following the re-entry draft.

Personal: David Arthur Kingman is single and resides in San Diego, CA, during the off-season. He attended Mount Prospect (IL) High School and was graduated in 1967. He also attended Harper College (Palatine, IL) before transferring to the University of Southern California in 1969. Dave's hobbies include hunting and fishing.

Prior to Majors: Dave's baseball career began with Little League, and American Legion Baseball. He also played for Mount Prospect High where he was a standout pitcher. In his last high school game he hit four home runs while tossing a two-hit shutout. Dave was drafted by the California Angels in 1967, but he decided to go to college where he and his USC teammates won the college World Series in 1970. He also played semi-pro ball for the Alaska Gold Panners of Fairbanks during the summer of 1968. After being signed to a pro contract, he went directly to double-A level with Amarillo (TX) where he pounded out 15 homers before being elevated to Phoenix (AZ) (Class AAA) in 1971. At Phoenix he made the switch from pitching to first base and outfield. He hit 26 homers and drove in 99 runs during his 105-game stay.

Major Leagues: Dave was called up to San Francisco late in the 1971 season and showed his now well-known power by hitting a grand slam homer off Pirate reliever Dave Giusti in the first game Dave played with the Giants. He proceeded to hit two more off Doc Ellis the following day. Dave stayed with the Giants through 1974 and tallied 77 homers and 217 RBI's during his four-year stay. Dave's contract was sold to the New York Mets on February 28, 1975. His first season as a Met, Dave hit 36 homers and drove in 88 runs. The following year Dave was well on his way to his finest season but suffered torn ligaments in his left thumb when he dived for a fly ball. The injury kept him on the disabled list for almost six weeks but he still finished the season with 37 homers (a Met club record) and 86 RBI's. He also led the team in game winning hits with 11. The 1977 season found Dave playing for four different clubs, all of whom were in a different division of each league. This enabled Dave to become the first player in history to hit a home run in each division of both leagues while playing in that division. "Kong" played out his option in 1977 and signed with the Cubs following the re-entry draft of that year. On June 30, 1978, in a game against the Phillies, Dave suffered a severe hamstring pull in his right leg but was still able to lead the Cub offensive attack with 28 homers and 79 RBI's. Many Cub fans will never forget Dave's eight-RBI-game against the Dodgers on May 14, 1978 in Los Angeles as he smacked three home runs to lead the Cubs over the Dodgers 10-8 in a 15-inning affair. Dave had his finest season ever in 1979 as he led the majors in home runs with 48 and slugging percentage with .613. His 115 RBI's were second in the National League behind Dave Winfield's 118. The 48 homers were the most by a Cub since Ernie Banks hit 47 during the 1958 campaign and the most since Hack Wilson slammed 56 in 1930 to establish the National League record. He was twice selected as Player of the Week by the National League and his .288 average was his highest ever since breaking into the major leagues. Dave was selected as Chicago's Player of the Year by the Chicago Chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America and was also the recipient of the Babe Ruth Crown which is awarded by the Baltimore Professional Players Association. The 1980 season was a frustrating one for Dave as he appeared in only half of the games during the season. After hitting for a .346 average and slugging six home runs Dave was named Player of the Month for April but suffered a severe shoulder injury on May 8 in a game against the Padres and was placed on the disabled list a month later for the first of two times during the season. He appeared in the all-star game on July 10 as a starter but took himself out of the game in the second inning because of the shoulder problem. Dave had his greatest success against New York (.441), Montreal (.435) and Los Angeles (.400). He also hit eight homers and drove in 19 runs against the Mets. Dave was a .309 hitter with runners in scoring position and a .375 pinch hitter.

Personal: Michael Edward Krukow is married to the former Jennifer Bradley. They have one son and live in Highland Park, IL, during the off-season. Mike attended San Gabriel High School and was graduated in 1970. He also attended California State Polytechnic University (San Luis Obispo, CA). Mike's hobbies include music and backpacking.

Prior to Majors: Krukow played Little League, Pony League, Babe Ruth League and Connie Mack ball. Mike also played baseball, basketball and football at San Gabriel High School and was named to the All-Pacific League Baseball and Basketball teams in his senior year. In 1971, he pitched for LaCrescenta in the California Collegiate League. He played varsity baseball in 1972 with a 9-3 record and a 2.44 ERA striking out 105 batters in 115 innings. In 1973 he was 10-3 with a 1.35 ERA and he set the school strikeout record of 126 in 113 innings, tied for the record for most wins in one season and tied for the team lead in home runs (4) to earn a berth on the all-conference team. His collegiate composite record was 25-7 with a 1.93 ERA and 274 strikeouts in 274 innings pitched. His most unusual feat was in amateur baseball when he pitched a no-hitter while walking 17 batters. In 1973, Mike led the Gulf Coast League (Rookie Class) in strikeouts (80), and tied for the lead in complete games with four. In 1975, he received Texas League's Gene Lawing Memorial Award "for contributions to baseball on and off the field." Mike was also named to the American Association All-Star Team during the 1976 season.

Major Leagues: Mike made his major league debut at the end of the 1976 season but his rookie year was 1977 where he turned in a 8-14 record with a 4.40 ERA. The highlight of Mike's rookie season came on May 26 when he threw a four-hit, 1-0 masterpiece at the expense of the Montreal Expos. Krukow's slow start at the beginning of the 1978 season earned him a quick trip back to the Cubs triple-A club in Wichita, KS, until June 27 of that same season. Mike was superb in his first start, after being recalled, as he shutout the Phillies 2-0 on June 30 allowing only three hits. He went on to win five in a row before suffering a defeat. Mike also won three of his last four decisions to close out the season with a fine 9-3 record. Krukow suffered a severe back injury, while shoveling snow during the off-season, which hampered his pitching at the start of the 1979 campaign. He didn't record a win until his fourth start, which was on May 4. Mike hit his first major league homer on June 27, 1979, off Kevin Saucier, to lead his teammates to a 11-4 victory over the Phillies at Wrigley Field. He was also one of five Cub hurlers to have recorded 100 or more strikeouts during the season as the Cub pitching staff led the National League in that department with 933. The 1980 season was a hard-luck one for Mike as the team was shutout three consecutive times when Krukow was pitching. He also lost six games by decisions of two runs or less. Mike hit the second home run of his major league career on August 12, again against Philadelphia. This time Steve Carlton was the victim. Krukow also led all Cub pitchers in hitting with a .246 average.

'T WAS TIGHT BUT HE DID IT

June 27, 1884, Larry Corcoran, pitcher for the Cubs recorded his third no-hitter in beating Providence, 6-0. He did this in the Lake Front Grounds of the White Stockings, as they were called at that time, at Randolph and Michigan. This was especially remarkable because the right field fence was only 196 feet from home plate (the minimum distance to any fence today must be 250 feet).

DID YOU KNOW . . . that Cub pitcher John Clarkson holds the Cub record for most victories? He racked up 35 wins for the pennant-winning Cubs in 1885!

LAMP, Dennis

Born 9/23/52

Los Angeles, CA

Acquired: Originally signed by the Cubs' Gene Handley following the June 1971 Free Agent Draft.

Personal: Dennis is married to the former Janet Paul and they reside in Evanston, IL, with their daughter during the off-season. He attended St. John Bosco High School in Bellflower, CA, and was graduated in 1971. His hobbies include music, swimming and pantomime.

Prior to Majors: Dennis participated in Little League, Pony League, Colt League and American Legion baseball programs. He played baseball and basketball in high school and was named to the All-Santa Fe League Baseball Team in his junior and senior years as well as being voted the league's Most Valuable Player both seasons. As a senior he won 13 of 15 decisions, allowing only 48 hits in 94 innings while fanning 127. In 1972, in the Gulf Coast League (Rookie Class), Dennis tied for second in wins (7) and was fourth in ERA (1.93). In 1973, he was selected to play in the Midwest League (Class A) All-Star game after posting a 6-4 record and a 2.63 ERA with the Quincy (IL) Club. Dennis had an off-year in 1974 but bounced back the following season and won seven games for the Midland (TX) Club and led the league in double plays for a pitcher with six. Dennis began the 1977 campaign with the parent club in spring training, but returned to the Wichita (Class AAA) team before the start of the regular season. There he had an excellent season (11-4, 2.94 ERA, 52 SO) and was the league's top control artist as he walked only 23 batters in 123 innings. He was also selected to the American Association All-Star Team.

Major Leagues: Dennis made his major league debut in August 1977. He made 11 appearances for the Cubs that season including three starts. He also singled in his first two major league at bats. In 1978, Lamp's 3.28 ERA was the lowest of all Cub starters but because of a lack of offensive support, Dennis won only seven games. On four occasions the Cubs were shutout when Dennis was pitching. Dennis hurled a one-hitter on June 9, 1978, at Wrigley Field, against the San Diego Padres. Only Gene Richards single in the sixth kept Dennis from pitching the first no-hitter by a Cub since Milt Pappas tossed his on Sept. 2, 1972 against the Padres, also at Wrigley Field. During the 1979 season Dennis pitched five complete game victories, two against Houston and one against Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Atlanta. Dennis was the starting pitcher for the Cubs' 1980 home opener against the Mets. He responded by allowing only seven hits and one run during his eight inning stint as the Cubs were victorious, 4-1. He also hurled two complete games, one a four hit shutout against the Dodgers on May 23 at Wrigley Field. The second occurred on July 22 against the Giants as the Cubs won, 6-1. Dennis was also very effective against San Diego as the Padres batted for only a .217 average against the big righty.

Arecibo, PR

Acquired: Originally signed by the Cubs scout Eddie Lyons in 1977. He was not drafted.

Personal: Carlos Manuel Lezcano is married to the former Jeannette Rosales and they reside in Rio Piedras, PR, during the off-season. Carlos attended Florida State University and was graduated in 1977. His hobbies include tennis and golf.

Prior to Majors: Carlos played baseball, basketball and volleyball in high school. In college he played baseball and in 1976 received honorable mention on the Independent All-American Team. In 1977 he led the Florida State in batting (.346), runs scored (66), hits (63), triples (6), RBI's (46), stolen bases (32 in 35 tries), total bases (111), walks (32), sacrifice flies (6) and was second in home runs with (9). This earned him All-South Independent and NCAA All-South Regional second teams. He helped lead Florida State to the NCAA South Regional title and a berth in the NCAA College World Series. Carlos is a cousin of St. Louis Cardinal outfielder Sixto Lezcano. Carlos spent all of the 1978 season on the disabled list due to an injury but returned healthy in 1979 to hit .326 for Midland (Class AA).

Major Leagues: Carlos broke into the "biggs" with a splash as his first two major league hits were home runs. The feat tied a major league record as the only other player to do this was Bob Nieman of the old St. Louis Browns on Sept. 14, 1951. Nieman's feat differs from Lezcano's as his round-trippers occurred in his first two at-bats. Carlos enjoyed his greatest success against the Mets as he batted at a .429 clip including two of his three homers.

Steve suffered a massive bruise on his right thigh and missed the remainder of the season. At the time of his accident, Macko was on a five-game hitting streak and had a .300 average. Steve's father, Joe, played in the Cleveland and Cub organizations in the 40's and 50's.

McGLOTHEN, Lynn

L-R

Born 3/27/50

Monroe, LA

Acquired: Originally signed by the Boston Red Sox following the June 1968 Free Agent Draft. Became a Cub on June 15, 1978, when he was traded from San Francisco for Hector Cruz and cash.

Personal: Lynn Everatt McGlothen is now single, has two sons and two daughters, and lives in

Prior to Majors: As a high school student, Lynn earned 16 letters in four different sports, football, basketball, tennis and baseball. He was the Louisiana State High School tennis champion for three years. In football, he was named to the All-Louisiana squad his senior year. Lynn was also an outstanding pitcher as he lost only two games during his high school career. After signing his first pro contract, Lynn reported to Waterloo, IA, (Class A) and posted a 3-2 record. In 1970 he led the Carolina League in complete games (16), strikeouts (202) and innings pitched (229), tied for the lead in shutouts (5), games started (29), and was second in ERA (2.24) to be named to the League All-Star Team. In 1971 he led the International League (Class AAA) in complete games (13). In 1972 he was the International League's Player of the Month for June and was 9-2 before being called to the Red Sox for the remainder of the year.

Major Leagues: Lynn reported to Boston in the middle of the 1972 season and on July 4, he pitched a three-hitter against the Minnesota Twins for his first major league win. After posting a 9-9 record during his two seasons at Boston, Lynn was traded to the St. Louis Cardinals. At St. Louis McGlothen compiled a 44-40 record during his three year stay and was named to the National League All-Star Team in 1974. Former teammates Bob Gibson, Bruce Sutter and Lynn are the last three National League pitchers to strike out three consecutive batters in an inning on nine pitches. Lynn accomplished the feat on August 19, 1975. McGlothen was traded to the San Francisco Giants prior to the 1977 season and spent much of the year on the disabled list with a shoulder injury. Lynn was traded to the Cubs during the 1978 season and compiled a 5-3 record his first year, most of which was spent as a long reliever. In 1979, he was used primarily as a starter and led the team in strikeouts (147) and tied Dennis Lamp for the most complete games (6). In 1980, Lynn had two complete games, both of which were shutouts. He also beat Los Angeles, St. Louis and Pittsburgh twice each.

April 26, 1905, Jack McCarthy of the Cubs became the only outfielder in major league history to throw out three runners at the plate, each of whom became the second out of a double play. The victims were the Pirates in a 2-1 loss.

REITZ, Ken

R-R

Born 6/24/51 San Francisco, CA

Acquired: Originally signed with St. Louis in 1969. Became a Cub on December 9, 1980, along with Leon Durham and Ty Waller in trade for Bruce Sutter.

Personal: Ken is married to the former Kathy Fiasco and they live in St. Louis with their two children during the off-season. Reitz attended Jefferson High School in Daly City, CA, and was graduated in 1969. His hobbies include racquetball and raising horses.

Prior to Majors: Ken was an all-around athlete in high school as he played baseball, football, basketball and wrestling. He was selected his team's MVP his senior year and was also all-league shortstop his junior and senior years. He was selected by the Cardinals in the 11th round of the June 1969 draft and split the season between the Sarasota Cardinals of the Gulf Coast League (Rookie) and Cedar Rapids of the Midwest League (Class A). The following season, 1970, Ken was selected the all-star third baseman of the Florida State League as he led the circuit in doubles (33) and times at bat (513). In 1971, when he was with the Arkansas Travelers of the Texas League (Class AA), Ken led all third basemen in fielding (.962), putouts (116), assists (316) and double plays (33). He also led the American Association (Class AAA) third baseman in putouts (106), assists (259) and double plays (35) the following season which earned him all-star team honors for 1972.

Major Leagues: Ken made his major league debut at the end of the 1972 season and batted .359 during his 21-game tour. The 1973 campaign, his first full year, Ken led all National League third basemen in fielding (.974) and he repeated the effort the following year (.974). Reitz won his first Gold Glove in 1975 as the National League's best fielding third baseman. His contract was traded to the San Francisco Giants following the 1975 season for pitcher Pete Falcone. Ken's stay in San Francisco was short as he played only one year before returning to St. Louis prior to the 1977 season. The 1977 campaign was one of Ken's finest with the glove as he committed only nine miscues to establish what was then the fewest errors by a third baseman in history. He also enjoyed his finest season at the plate as he hit 17 home runs and drove in 79 to set career high marks in both departments. Ken had an off-year in 1978 but bounced back in 1979 to raise his batting average 22 points, from .236 to a more respectable .268. His 162 hits and 41 doubles were career high marks. He also collected the 1000th hit of his career on August 13 but his feat was overshadowed as Lou Brock got the 3000th of his career the same evening. In 1980, Ken won his second Gold Glove as he broke his own fielding record when he made only eight errors in 150 games for a spectacular .979 fielding percentage. Reitz continued his improvement at the plate as he batted at a .270 clip including 33 doubles.

FREE AGENT DRAFT

Major league and National Association clubs participate in two meetings a year for the purpose of drafting free agent player talent. Selection of a free agent entitles the club to the exclusive rights of negotiation with the player for a specified period (from the date of selection until 15 days prior to the next draft meeting). Draft meetings are held in June and January.

There are two categories to each draft meeting:

(1) Regular Phase — Selection of free agents is in inverse order of major league standings. Each organization may select only one player for each of its major league, "AAA" and "AA" rosters but is not limited to the number of picks for "A" level. Minor league clubs select in the same order as their parent clubs.

(2) Secondary Phase — Selection is of free agents who had been drafted at a previous meeting, but who were not subsequently signed during the negotiation period. It is possible for a club to redraft a player whom it had been unable to sign after the original selection, but only with written consent of that player. Order of selection in the secondary phase is determined by lot.

HUNDLEY, Randy

IOWA OAKS

Randy was named to be manager of the Iowa Oaks of the American Association (Class AAA) in 1981. He was at Midland (TX) in the Texas League (Class AA) the previous two seasons where he led the Midland Cubs to a Western Division title in the second half of 1979 and fell only one game short of making a playoff berth in 1980. He began his managerial career at Bradenton (FL) in the Gulf Coast League (Rookie) in 1978 where his rookie Cubs were not eliminated from the league crown until the second to the last day of the season. Randy signed his first professional contract as a catcher with the San Francisco Giants in 1960. He played with the Giants briefly in 1964 and 1965 and joined the Cubs for the 1966 season. Randy was rated as one of the better defensive catchers earning the Golden Glove Award in 1967. He established the following major league records: Most home runs, catcher, rookie season (19), 1966; most games, catcher, season (160), 1968; highest fielding average, catcher, season (150 or more games), .996, in 1967; fewest errors by catcher, season (150 or more games), 4, in 1967. He led the National League catchers in doubleplays with 17 in 1969.

HARTSFIELD, Roy

MIDLAND CUBS

Roy began his 17-year playing career in 1943 with his hometown Atlanta (GA) Crackers of the Southern Association (Class AA) and established a major league career batting average of .273 while playing three years as a second baseman for the Boston Braves (1950-52). He began his 15-year minor league managing career in 1958 while still a player at Des Moines (IA). Before being signed to manage the Toronto Blue Jays expansion team for 1977-79, Roy won seven division titles and finished below third overall only twice. He has an excellent reputation in developing young players as a manager-coach-instructor. He coached for Los Angeles (1969-72) under Walter Alston and briefly for Eddie Mathews at Atlanta the next season before returning to the managerial ranks in May 1973. He is the older brother of Bob Hartsfield who has been managing the Cubs Geneva Class A affiliate since 1977.

MORALES, Rich

QUAD CITY CUBS

Rich was elevated to manager of the Quad City Cubs in the Midwest League (Class A) in 1981 after managing the Sarasota (FL) Cubs to a 33-29-1 record in the Gulf Coast League (Rookie Class). Prior to joining the Cub organization, he led Medford (OR) to a Northwest League (Class A) second place finish in 1979 in the Oakland A's chain. Rich was an infielder during his eight years of major league baseball with the Chicago White Sox and the San Diego Padres. He was primarily used as a utility infielder in the big leagues and saw most of his action at shortstop.

HARTSFIELD, Bob

GENEVA CUBS

Bob began his successful regime at Geneva (NY) for the Cubs in 1977 and won Western Division crowns in 1978-79-80, winning the New York-Pennsylvania League (Class A) Championship in 1978 with a phenomenal 51-20 record. Although they lost the championship playoffs by one game, they posted an outstanding 48-26 won-lost total in 1980. When not winning division pennants and championships, Bob scouts for the Cubs and referees college basketball in the SEC and ACC during the off season. Bob's biggest thrill during his playing career was breaking into professional ball with a 21-game hitting streak. He is the younger brother of Roy Hartsfield, who is the manager of the Midland Cubs.

ENRIGHT, George

SARASOTA CUBS

George was picked to manage the Sarasota (FL) Cubs in the Gulf Coast League (Rookie Class) in 1981 after his performance as an interim manager for the Cubs organization on several occasions during his eight-year professional baseball career. He was originally drafted as a catcher as an 18-year-old in 1972. In 1975, he led the Southern League (Class AA) catchers in fielding (.992) and set a record for most consecutive games without an error (68). In 1978, he made only one error while handling 381 total chances for a .997 fielding percentage which not only established a Southern League mark but earned him Rawlings Silver Glove Award as the best defensive catcher in Class AAA and Class AA leagues. George was signed by the White Sox, was traded to Kansas City, then acquired by the Cubs in December 1979 for Duane Gustavson.

ADAMS, Bobby

INFIELD INSTR.

Bobby Adams spent 14 years in the major leagues prepping for his present position: teaching the art of infield play to the young players in the Cubs' affiliated clubs. The Cubs were one of the four clubs Adams played for in the majors. The others were the Reds, his original club; the Orioles; and the White Sox. In 1966, Bob moved into the executive end of baseball, serving six years as the president of the Cubs' Tacoma club, and one at Midland. Bobby returned to the field in 1973 to do what he enjoys best: teaching young infielders to improve their defensive skills.

BRADFORD, Buddy

HITTING INSTR.

Buddy joined the Cubs as a hitting instructor in 1980 after 14 years of professional baseball as an outfielder. He played in the majors for the Chicago White Sox, Cincinnati Reds, Cleveland Indians, and St. Louis Cardinals (1967-75). His major league career was riddled with injuries and trips to the military list during the Viet Nam War. He was an outstanding outfielder. He only made 27 errors during his 642 games in the majors and led the Florida State League (Class A) outfielders with 25 assists in 1963. The next season he paced his peers with 247 putouts in the Carolina League (Class A) and tied for the most assists (19).

CONDE, Ramon

INSTRUCTOR

Ramon joined the Cubs in 1981 as a minor league instructor and Latin American scout. He is a former minor league infielder with the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Chicago White Sox.

NAPIER, Jim

PITCHING COACH

Jim was named minor league pitching coach in 1981 to replace Les Moss who joined the parent club that season. Jim originally joined the Cub organization in 1979 as manager of the Quad City Cubs and promptly led them to a Midwest League (Class A) championship. Napier managed at Knoxville (TN) in the Southern League (Class AA) in 1973, 74, 75, and 77, and in Appleton (WI) of the Midwest League (Class A) in 1976. During his tenure at Knoxville, his squad captured the league championship in 1974. "Nape" was a catcher during 13 years as a professional (1958-1972). He was out of baseball in 1966. He spent most of his time in Class AAA ball with San Diego, Indianapolis, and Tucson. He was named all-star catcher in the Midwest League (1958) and in South Atlantic League (1960). He caught on three consecutive pennant winners (Indianapolis 1962-3, and Lynchburgh 1964). Walter, his oldest brother, was an outfielder in Boston's organization (1956-60).

OLIVER, Gene

QUAD CITY COACH

Gene was named coach of the Quad City Cubs in the Midwest League (Class A) in 1979. He was a catcher, first baseman, and outfielder for ten years in the majors while wearing the threads of St. Louis, Milwaukee, Atlanta, Philadelphia, and Chicago — all of the National League — and the Boston Red Sox. During his 786 games, he hit 93 home runs and recorded a home-run percentage of 4.2% which was second during the time (1959-69) only to Yogi Berra's 4.7% among catchers. Gene, who is a native of Moline, IL, had his best season in 1965 when he slammed 21 home runs for the Milwaukee Braves.

HIGHLIGHTS OF CUBS HISTORY

The Chicago Cubs are rich in heritage. The team is most proud of the fact that it is the only one of the original eight charter members of the National League which has operated continuously in the same city in which it was franchised over 100 years ago.

One of the prime movers behind the establishment of the new National League in 1876 was William A. Hulbert, president of the Chicago Club. He was one of the early presidents of the League, and held the dual role of league president and club president until his death in 1882. Hulbert, along with the first manager of the Chicago Club, Albert G. Spalding, spent the entire month of December 1875 writing the constitution and by-laws of the new National League. These rules have lasted almost as they were written until this day.

Albert Spalding was also the first pitching star for the Chicago team. He won 46 games during his first managerial season including eight shutouts.

The Chicago Club was originally known as the "White Stockings," although in those days nicknames were not official. About 1890 that name was dropped and the team was known by several nicknames, most notably the "Colts" and "Orphans." Legend has it that a newspaper writer, searching for a short nickname to fit a headline, first used the name "Cubs" on March 27, 1902. It was officially adopted as the nickname of the club in 1907.

Early in the 20th century, the club came under the absentee ownership of the Taft family of Cincinnati, but following the 1915 season a group of influential Chicagoans, among them William Wrigley, Jr., purchased the club. Five years later, in 1921, Wrigley became majority stockholder. After the death of William Wrigley, Jr., in 1932, his son, Philip K. Wrigley, became majority stockholder. Philip K. Wrigley passed away in 1977, leaving his son, William Wrigley, principal owner of the ball club.

CUBS' "HOME AWAY FROM HOME" IN ARIZONA

The Cubs returned to Mesa, Arizona, in 1979 re-establishing their Spring Training Camp there for the first time since 1965. However, instead of old Rendezvous Park, the Cubs now train in new HoHoKam Park on North Center Street just north of Brown Road.

The Park was opened on March 11, 1977, and was previously the spring home of the Oakland A's. The Cubs also have three nearby diamonds at Fitch Park on which to practice and for workouts of squad members who are not playing during exhibition games. This is a plus for the Cubs as they not only prepare for the current season but build for the future.

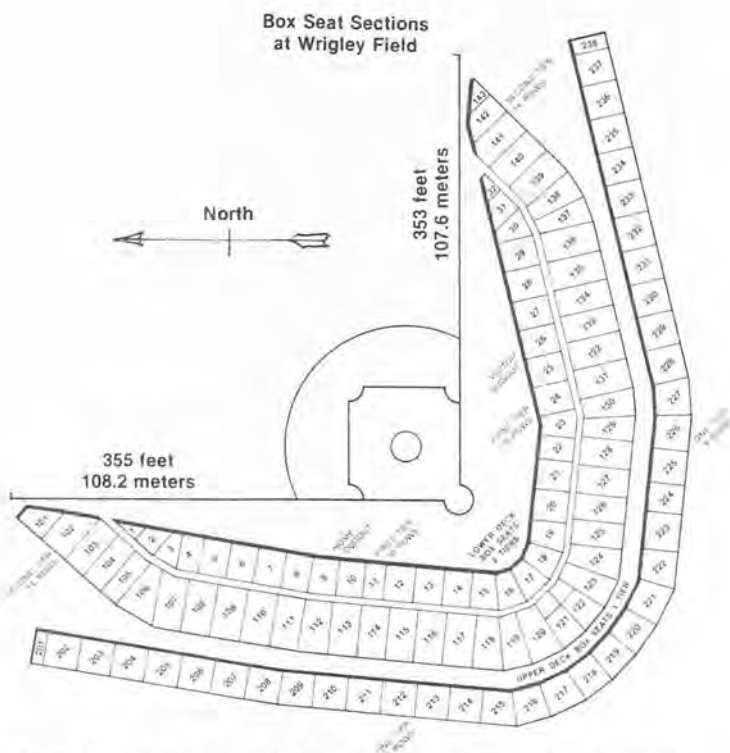

A group of Mesa businessmen called the HoHoKams provide assistance to the Cubs in operating the Park, selling tickets, etc. The HoHoKams and the Park are named after the Indian tribe that inhabited the region many years ago. They were the first to bring water to the dry area by a system of canals which can still be traced today.

Mesa is only the fourth training site used by the Chicago Cubs in over 50 years. They trained for 26 years from 1921 thru 1951, excluding the World War II years, at Catalina Island. Mesa was home of the Cubs from 1952 through 1965. After a one-year stop at Long Beach, California, the Cubs set up camp at Scottsdale, Arizona where they remained through the Spring of 1978.

Mesa, a friendly city which still harbors many Cubs fans from past days, is located just southeast of Scottsdale and Phoenix. It has a population over 150,000.

NOTES ON CUB HISTORY

In 105 National League seasons, the Cubs have played 15,351 games and won 7,949 (148 were tied) of them, both lifetime and major league records.

The Cubs have won 16 National League pennants, second only to the Giants, who have 18.

The Cubs, as a team, have hit 100 or more home runs in 29 of their last 31 seasons.

The all-time major league record for wins in a season and winning percentage in a season is held by the 1906 Cubs, who won 116 and lost only 36, for a .763 percentage.

On September 26, 1908, Cub pitcher Ed Reulbach pitched both ends of a doubleheader against Brooklyn, shutting them out in both games by scores of 5-0 and 3-0.

The largest crowd to ever see a baseball game at Wrigley Field was 51,556 on June 27, 1930, against Brooklyn. Of that number, 30,476 were Ladies Day guests and 1,332 passholders, so the official paid crowd that day was only 19,748.

The 1935 Cubs set the club record for consecutive wins in a season with 21 in a row.

The 1945 Cubs helped themselves to the National League pennant as they swept 19 doubleheaders and split 10.

The 1959 Cubs hit 182 homers during the season to establish the club record.

On May 15, 1960, Don Cardwell made his first start as a Cub and responded by pitching a no-hit, no-run game to whip the Cardinals 4-0.

Ernie Banks hit the 500th home run of his career, into the left field bleachers, on May 12, 1970.

The largest Opening Day crowd at Wrigley Field, 45,777, attended the 1978 home opener vs. Pittsburgh on April 14.

The 1969 Cubs drew 1,674,993 fans to Wrigley Field to establish their single season attendance mark.

WRIGLEY FIELD—HOME OF THE CUBS

The Chicago Cubs have always made it a point to provide fans with the best possible facility in which to watch major league baseball in comfort and convenience, but at the same time, to retain the rich heritage of the Cubs and Wrigley Field. One of the few remaining parks in the major leagues that was designed for the sole purpose of playing baseball, Wrigley Field is still a place where fans are close to the action. This has not changed, even though the Cubs have spent more than $5,135,000 in recent years in improvements and modernization projects, excluding expenditures for each year's regular maintenance.

More than a half century of baseball tradition is present within the ivy-covered walls of Wrigley Field. After all, here is where Babe Ruth made his famous gesture toward the bleachers before slamming a homer there, where the Cubs' famed "murders' row" of Rogers Hornsby, Hack Wilson, Kiki Cuyler, Riggs Stephenson, and Charlie Grimm pounded opposing pitchers, where Grover Cleveland Alexander, Dizzy Dean, Claude Passeau, Charley Root, Larry French, and Bill Lee toed the pitching rubber.

Even in this day of instant communications the Cubs still maintain the tradition of flying a flag bearing either a "W" or an "L" from atop the scoreboard after a game to inform passerbys of the outcome of the day's contest. A blue flag with a white "W" indicates a win while a white flag with a blue "L" indicates a loss.

In 1978 a new innovation was started to inform night travelers. A blue light atop the scoreboard signals victory and a white one indicates defeat.

Early History of the Park

The Cubs moved to the present North Side location for the start of the 1916 season. The site had been the playing field for the Chicago Whales of the short-lived Federal League, which operated in 1914-15. The Cubs played their first game on the present site April 20, 1916, defeating Cincinnati 7-6 in 11 innings. The seating capacity was 14,000 originally.

First major improvements were made in 1922-23 when the grandstand was moved back and enlarged, increasing the seating capacity to 20,000.

FACT AND FIGURES ABOUT WRIGLEY FIELD

Distances from home plate		Seating Capacity
	Feet Meters
Left field	355 (108.2)	First Tier Box Seats	3,306
Right field	353 (107.6)	Second Tier Box Seats	6,254
Center field wall	400 (121.9)	Upper Deck Box Seats	4,618
Height of wall		Mezzanine Box Seats	150
under bleachers	11.5 (3.5)	Reserved Grandstand	4,261
in corners	15.0 (4.5)	General Grandstand	15,383
Home plate-screen	60.5 (18.4)	Bleachers	3,300
		Total	37,272

Next, the park was double-decked in the winter of 1926-27, nearly doubling the seating capacity. During the summer of 1937 improved bleachers were constructed. Then, in 1938, wide chairs were installed in the boxes and grandstand. This added to fan comfort, reducing the park's total capacity by several thousand.

During the early years, the park was known simply as Cubs' Park. Then in 1926 it was officially named Wrigley Field in honor of William Wrigley, Jr.

In recent years, the lower grandstand in right field was turned-in so that fans sitting down the right field line would face home plate; the entire upper deck was completely re-constructed (in a four-year project that began in the winter of 1967-68 and was completed in the winter of 1970-71); and plastic, self-rising, contour seats were installed in the lower deck reserved seating area, replacing folding chairs; along with many other improvement projects.

The Flags of Wrigley Field Tell a Story

At all Cubs home games Old Glory flies from the centerfield masthead, highest point in the park. The flags of the 12 National League cities, eight States, and Quebec fly over the main gate.

Before and during each game, 12 pennants, one for each National League Club, fly from the yardarms in the order of the standings of each division on the morning game — the first place team in the East Division at top left, and the West Division leader at the right.

The Chicago Cubs flag — red and white on a blue background — displays 16 red stars representing the Cubs' 16 National League Championships. The two blue stars represent the Cubs' two World Championships.

Public Transportation is Easy and Convenient

Located at Clark and Addison Sts., 3600 North, 1000 West, Clark St. buses (No. 22) and Addison buses (No. 152) take you to main gates. CTA Rapid Transit trains ("L" and subway) take you to ¼ block from the ball park (Addison St. station). All northbound and southbound "B" trains on the North-South Rapid Transit route stop at Addison on days of all Cubs home games throughout the season. "A" trains stop an hour before game time.

RADIO-TV ANNOUNCERS FOR 1981

Lou Boudreau

Lou Boudreau, a name synonymous with the color, excitement, and expertise of major league baseball, has participated actively in the world of professional sports all of his adult life, first as one of the greatest shortstops in the history of baseball, and then as a sports broadcaster for WGN Radio.

On January 20, 1970, Lou was voted into the Baseball Hall of Fame by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

He joined the Cleveland Indians in 1939 and became one of baseball's greatest shortstops. In 1942, at the age of 24, he was named manager of the Indians and by 1948 was the most popular athlete in America, in addition to being chosen as the most valuable player in the American League.

Jack Brickhouse

"I like some 'Gee Whizz' enthusiasm in broadcasting sports . . ." is the motto and manner of sportscasting of Jack Brickhouse.

Jack has been covering baseball for Television 9 since the station's first telecast in 1948. No baseball broadcaster has televised as many games as Brickhouse.

He entered the broadcasting profession at the age of 18 on radio station WMBD in his home town of Peoria, Illinois, and at that time was the youngest sports announcer in the nation. After broadcasting sports at Peoria for six years, Jack joined WGN to cover sports for the Mutual network and WGN.

Milo Hamilton

This will be Milo's second year doing the Chicago Cub play-by-play coverage with Jack Brickhouse.

Hamilton had been the voice of the World Champion Pittsburgh Pirates since 1976 over KDKA Radio and TV.

Hamilton returned to his "second home," for earlier in his career, he broadcast the Cubs on WIND Radio from '55-'57, then did the White Sox from 1961-65. He left Chicago for Atlanta, where he covered the Atlanta Braves for 10 years (1966-75).

In addition to his many baseball years he also did Georgia Tech football and Ohio State football. While in Chicago he covered Northwestern football and basketball and De Paul basketball for six years.

Born in Fairfield, Iowa, and a graduate from the University of Iowa, the 53-year-old broadcaster was a welcome addition to the Cubs broadcast crew in 1980.

Vince Lloyd

It takes an unusual quality of electricity to relay the excitement of a live sporting event over the radio waves, and Vince Lloyd's voltage of enthusiasm has made him one of the most respected names in sport broadcasting.

The WGN Radio voice of the Chicago Cubs since 1965, Vince possesses the exacting expertise to convince listeners that "He was there, and saw it all," even if he was listening from his own car radio.

The recipient of hundreds of awards in sports broadcasting, his versatility extends to calling the play-by-play action of Big Ten Football games for WGN radio and television. Vince is truly one of the nation's top pro's in broadcast sports.

THE TWO AND ONLY.

These are the only official major league baseballs. They were chosen because of the consistency of quality, durability and exacting manufacturing standards. While others claim to meet major league specifications, the fact remains that the American League and the National League chose only two: Rawlings. And Rawlings. If it's their choice, shouldn't it be yours?

Rawlings®

Maker of all the balls, many of the bats and most of the gloves and mitts you'll see in the major leagues this year.
